BREXIT IS NOT TO BLAME AS HONDA PULLS OUT OF UK

HONDA has confirmed it will close its Swindon car plant in 2021, with the loss of 3,500 jobs.

The Japanese firm builds 160,000 Honda Civics a year at the site – its only car factory in the EU.

Honda said the move was due to global changes in the car industry and the need to launch electric vehicles, and it had nothing to do with Brexit.

Business Secretary Greg Clark (above) said the decision was “devastating” for Swindon and the UK.

A fall in demand for diesel cars and tougher emissions regulations have shaken up the car industry.

Yesterday Ian Howells of Honda in Europe said: “We have to move swiftly to electrification of our vehicles because of demand of our customers and legislation. This is not a Brexit-related issue for us, it’s being made on global-related changes.”

Lowest jobless rate since 70s

THE number of people in work in the UK has continued to climb, with a record 32.6 million employed between October and December, the latest Office for National Statistics figures show.

Unemployment was little-changed in the three-month period at 1.36 million.

The jobless rate, staying at 4%, is at its lowest since early 1975.

Weekly average earnings went up by 3.4% to £494.50 in the year to December – which after adjusting for inflation, is the highest level since March 2011.

ALESHA: ACCUSED TEEN'S DNA 'FOUND ON BODY'

A TEENAGER accused of raping and murdering a six-year-old girl claims he lost his clothes in the sea after a court heard his DNA was recovered from the waistband of jogging trousers found on the shore.

The 16-year-old boy said boxer shorts and jogging trousers shown to the jury at the High Court in Glasgow were lost on June 29, 2018.

He denies abducting, raping and murdering Alesha MacPhail on the Isle of Bute last July, as well as attempting to hide evidence.

Giving evidence, the teenager said he had been jumping into the water from a pier by himself.

He said: “Once I’d finished drying myself, I went to pick my trousers up but I wasn’t fast enough and they just went into the sea.”

Earlier, the court heard the clothing was found on the shoreline by a dog walker and recovered by police – days after Alesha’s body was found in woods on the Isle of Bute on July 2 last year.

Forensic scientist Stuart Bailey earlier told the court semen from the accused was found inside Alesha.

The schoolgirl was reported missing shortly after 6am on July 2.

Semen

Her body was found hours later in a wooded area on the island.

The accused teenager has lodged a special defence of incrimination, blaming Toni McLachlan – the girlfriend of Alesha’s father Robert MacPhail – for the killing.

Giving evidence last Wednesday, Ms McLachlan denied being responsible for her death, saying she “loved” Alesha.

Ms McLachlan also denied suggestions by the defence that she had sex with the accused on July 2, then planted his semen on Alesha, before “attacking and brutalising her” and murdering her.

The trial, before judge Lord Matthews, continues.

TORY MINISTER 'SET TO JOIN LABOUR SPLITTERS'

CHUKKA IT IN: Umunna's move could threaten Corbyn and PM May CHUKKA Umunna vowed the 'gang of seven' will turn their new Independent Group into a full-blown political party within months.

And Conservatives' joy at the disintegration of Labour began to fade yesterday as it emerged that four Tory MPs and even a MINISTER were set to join the rebellion.

The loss of any MPs would be a disaster for Theresa May, who can only command a Commons majority with the help of the Ulster Unionists.

Streatham MP Mr Umunna has pleaded with frustrated politicians from across

By BARNEY Samuels

Parliament to defect and help overhaul British politics.

He appealed directly to “demoralised” Tories frustrated at the “Ukipisation” of their party.

If the Independent Group can swell to 36 members it could take the SNP's place as the third biggest party and get to question the Prime Minister every week.

Message

Tory rebel Sarah Wollaston said former Ukip members were “taking over the Tory Party”, allied to MPs in the European Research Group of Brexiters. Her message was retweeted by fellow rebel Anna Soubry, who appears to have deleted a Tory slogan from her profile.

Dr Wollaston's intervention will raise expectations she and other Tory MPs could join the centrists who walked out of Labour on Monday.

Ex-Conservative minister Nick Boles has refused to deny he could go. Another MP, Heidi Allen, is also the subject of intense speculation and is said to be on “resignation watch”.

The Telegraph reported a minister was also considering defecting.

Jeremy Corbyn has been warned as many as 50 Labour MPs could follow the move.

His own deputy Tom Watson said the decision was only “premature”, while Shadow Chancellor John McDonnell called for a “mammoth listening exercise” as Labour's leadership scrambled to deal with the crisis.

But Mr Corbyn warned the group they had been elected on Labour's manifesto – and even jibed those who felt he did not listen were “not taking up the opportunities that are available”.

The stubborn response will anger Labour MPs considering whether to follow their former colleagues over the top.

Mr Umunna, Luciana Berger, Chris Leslie, Angela Smith, Gavin Shuker, Ann Coffey and Mike Gapes' split-signals the biggest split in British politics since the SDP walked out of Labour in 1981.

Sanders in 2nd White House bid

US Senator Bernie Sanders says he will run again for President in 2020, making a second attempt to win the Democratic Party's nomination.

The 77-year-old Vermont senator (above) became a progressive political star in 2016, although he lost his candidacy bid.

In an email to supporters, he said it was time to complete the “political revolution” they had started.

An outspoken critic of Donald Trump, Mr Sanders has described the President as a “pathological liar” and “racist”.

Mr Sanders – an independent who caucuses with the Democrats – is one of the best-known names to join a crowded and diverse field of Democratic candidates seeking to win the party's nomination.

And early polls suggest he is already far ahead.

His calls for universal government-provided healthcare, a $15 national minimum wage and free college education electrified young voters, raised millions of dollars in small donations and are now pillars of the party's left wing.

ILL OZZY CALLS OFF MORE DATES

ROCK star Ozzy Osbourne has had to cancel more tour dates as he recovers from pneumonia.

The former Black Sabbath singer had already called off the UK and European legs of his No More Tours 2.

Worst

Now the Birmingham-born performer has cancelled his planned performances in Australia, New Zealand and Japan.

Sharon Osbourne said in a tweet that her husband was through the worst, but his doctors have advised that he stay at home to recuperate for six weeks.

Last February, Ozzy and Sharon Osbourne announced that No More Tours 2 would definitely be the singer's final full world tour.

Ozzy called off the UK and European legs of his tour in January, after coming down with the flu and bronchitis.

In a statement on his website at the time, the Paranoid legend said that he was “devastated” but determined to reschedule the dates for September.

VILE TROLLS ATTACK POOR GEMMA

DANCING on Ice queen Gemma Collins is suffering at the hands of vile internet trolls yet again.

The TOWIE star has been bombarded with abuse from keyboard warriors intent on upsetting the celebrity skater.

Gemma, 38, who is dating fellow reality TV star James Argent, has once more found the way she looks to be a target for criticism.

By GRACE HOOPER
news@sundaysport.co.uk

The onslaught began when she posted a photograph of herself online, both in lingerie and a designer dress.

Cuddly

Many of her fans showered praise on Gemma's look and sent "lovehearts".

But one Instagram follower, clearly with an eye on her cuddly frame, remarked: "Anyone got a harpoon?"

And another cruelly jibed: "Hey fatty boom boom."

Gemma has been trolled online for years, despite calls from her many devotees to have the trolls banned from social media.

Viewing figures for Dancing on Ice plunged after Gemma was booted off the ITV show.

A weekly average of more than 6.5million viewers watched her take to the ice with her professional partner Matt Evers.

But overall ratings for the next edition slumped to 3.7million.

JACK SORRY FOR BRITS

POSH comic Jack Whitehall has issued an apology to the celebs he insulted at the 2018 Brit Awards, ahead of tonight's event.

The 30-year-old host of this year's Brits said sorry to stars including singer Ed Sheeran, footballer Harry Kane, and Rolling Stones guitarist Ronnie Wood who he teased at last year's bash.

Jack (right) said: "I'm very proud to be doing the Brits but what I'm not proud of is some of my behaviour last year, where I insulted some respected acts that were present in the room."

Clunes: Comedy is funny 'cos... it's just funny!

MARTIN Clunes has said comedy is simply meant to be "just funny" and not to adhere to fashion or a political context.

The actor (above), who achieved widespread fame with Men Behaving Badly in the 1990s, has denied the show was a vehicle for "laddism" and said that comedy is for its own sake.

Clunes has said that sitcoms are dead, but that if the programme were to be remade in the 21st century it would be called "People Of No Particular Gender Behaving Badly".

The Doc Martin star is set to star in upcoming comedy Warren – about a driving instructor exiled in the north of England.

Clunes has told Radio Times magazine that the comedy he makes does not have a message, and no comedy should.

He said: "Comedy is just funny. It isn't a cure for anything."

"It's not funny because it's time to be funny. It's always time to be funny."

'Pouncing' mum in sex assault on dozing man

A MUM who tried to have sex with a younger man has been spared jail.

Elizabeth Barr, 40, pounced on the sleeping 27-year-old at a flat in Easterhouse, Glasgow.

Jurors heard the man was in tears after the September 2016 attack. Barr claimed anything that happened was consensual – and that the victim had "panicked" because he had cheated on his girlfriend.

But the mum-of-two was convicted of sexual assault following a trial at Glasgow Sheriff Court.

The court heard Barr had only met the man hours before the incident.

She was handed a community payback order with the conditions she carries out 300 hours of unpaid work within a year and stays in her house between 8pm and 7am.

She was also put on the sex offenders register.

IT'S LONDON FLASHIN' TEAT!

FASHION NEWS 1

PROTESTS erupted at London Fashion Week on Sunday afternoon as environmental activists called on organisers at the British Fashion Council to use its platform to tackle climate change and declare a "climate emergency".

And on Tuesday they were all down in the dumps because German fashion designer Karl Lagerfeld carked it.

But at least there was some of the usual fun to be had at the annual frock festival – thanks to designers making models parade up and down with their tits out.

One onlooker said: "I love London Fashion Week. The birds get their tits out and they don't look like they're really enjoying it."

FASHION STATEMENT: Model and Lagerfeld

DONATELLA Versace and Victoria Beckham are among the predictable stars paying tribute to overpriced fashion designer Karl Lagerfeld following his death.

The German, who was the creative director for Chanel and Fendi, died after a period of ill-health at around the age of 85.

his official website. In 2013, he told Paris Match magazine that he was born in 1935.

Versace led the tributes to the designer, writing on Instagram: "Karl your genius touched the lives of so many, especially Gianni and I."

"We will never forget your incredible talent and endless inspiration. We were always learning from you."

Singer-turned-designer Beckham posted on Instagram: "So incredibly sad to hear this. Karl was a genius and always so kind and generous to me both personally and professionally. RIP x vb."

Pony-tailed freak Lagerfeld – who appeared to have copied his look from a Bulgarian pimp – was widely respected by the sort of brainless airhead who enjoys watching unhappy, stick-thin women parade about on a stage.

Thinking himself an "artist" rather than a jumped-up tailor, Lagerfeld made statements designed to court controversy.

Last year, he told models who didn't want to be groped they should join a convent.

Stoke star's 'drink-drive theft' arrest

STOKE City football star Saido Berahino has been charged with being drunk in charge of a vehicle, police said.

The 25-year-old (above) was detained in London's West End on Monday after reports of a "disturbance" in Great Russell Street.

A spokeswoman for the Metropolitan Police said the striker was arrested at 3am, taken into custody and charged.

He is due to appear at Highbury Corner Magistrates' Court on March 6.

Scotland Yard said officers arriving at the scene saw a car "drive away at speed".

They added: "The car was stopped by police in Bedford Square and a 25-year-old man was arrested on suspicion of drink-driving."

"The suspect alleged that a group of males surrounded his car in Great Russell Street and attacked him, stealing his watch."

Scotland Yard said detectives were yet to make any arrests over that allegation but were continuing to investigate.

'NEO-NAZIS PLOTTED RACE WAR IN WARRINGTON WETHERSPOONS'

ON TRIAL:
Jack Renshaw

A NEO-Nazi plotted to murder a Labour MP on behalf of the banned extremist right wing group, National Action, a court has heard.

Jack Renshaw, 23, bought a 19-inch machete, did research online and revealed his plan at a meeting in a Warrington pub in July 2017.

He wanted to kill MP Rosie Cooper for National Action and "white Jihad" while taking revenge on Lancashire Police who he thought was persecuting him, jurors were told.

The plot was foiled by a whistle-blower who reported the danger to Hope Not Hate, an organisation set up to combat right-wing political racism, the Old Bailey heard.

Terrorism

Renshaw of Skelmersdale, Lancs, has admitted preparing an act of terrorism but has denied being a member of National Action after it was banned in December 2016.

He is on trial alongside Andrew Clarke, 34, and Michal Trubini, 36, from Warrington, who also deny any membership of the proscribed organisation.

TARGET: MP Rosie Cooper

Duncan Atkinson QC told jurors: "It is important to recognise from the outset that these defendants are not being prosecuted for their racist or neo-Nazi beliefs, however repulsive they may be, but for their participation in a banned organisation that sought actively through fear, intimidation and the threat of violence rather than through free speech and democracy to shape society in accordance with those racist and neo-Nazi beliefs."

Court told machete plot foiled by whistleblower

By COLIN HURST
news@sundaysport.co.uk

An important part of the evidence concerned the plan devised by Renshaw to engage in "politically motivated violence of the most serious kind", he said.

Mr Atkinson added: "It is clear from the attack that he planned and the target that he chose that this was to be politically motivated violence and a putting into deadly practice of the objectives and beliefs of National Action."

"There is no dispute that Renshaw was planning to do this, he has pleaded guilty to preparing for an act of terrorism, for politically motivated murder."

Convicted National Action leader Christopher Lythgoe, 32, and his close associate Matthew Hankinson, 24, were present at the Friar Penketh pub along with the defendant Clarke when Renshaw outlined his plan, yet none of them tried to talk him out of it, he said.

The other defendant, Trubini, had been at the pub beforehand but left before Renshaw arrived, the court heard.

Mr Atkinson told how National Action had been engaged in a "campaign of virulently racist, anti-Semitic and homophobic propaganda" aimed at starting a "race war" since 2013.

Hate-filled

It actively sought to recruit and radicalise young people through violent imagery and hate-filled language on social media and in provocative demonstrations, he said.

It was banned over its support for the murder of Batley MP Jo Cox in 2016.

But Mr Atkinson said the defendants continued as active members after proscription in December 2016 and their arrest in September 2017.

The evidence against them included material found at their homes, on their PCs and phones and communication between them.

Disenchanted ex-member Robbie Mullen also passed information to Hope Not Hate, jurors heard.

Mr Atkinson told jurors: "The defendants continued to meet as before, to train together as before, to discuss the same matters as before, to seek together to advance the same goals as before."

Clarke, of Prescott, Liverpool, Trubini, of Warrington, Cheshire, and Renshaw of Skelmersdale, Lancs, deny being members of National Action after the ban.

The trial continues.

DOUBLE RAPIST JAILED FOR SEX ATTACK ON TEEN

MORE PORRIDGE:
Sean Moynihan

Court hears beast slashed serial killer Tobin

A MONSTER convicted of sexually attacking a teen girl at knife point is already serving a life sentence for two rapes, a jury heard yesterday.

Sean Moynihan, 34, tried to rape the 15-year-old schoolgirl in Paisley in 2008, the High Court at Livingston was told.

He threatened to kill her after dragging her into bushes near a cycle path and tearing off her clothing.

The unnamed girl said she was too shy to tell police about the rape attempt at the time because her mother was present when detectives interviewed her.

She finally revealed full details about the terrifying ordeal in 2016 after prosecutors re-opened the case.

The Crown got new evidence that DNA from the jeans the teenager was wearing was a one in a billion match for Moynihan's profile, the jury was told.

By that time the sex beast had been convicted of raping a 16-year-old girl who mistook his black Skoda Octavia for a private hire taxi after a night out.

He took her to a layby in Paisley and raped her in the back seat of his car before then driving her home.

Released

Moynihan was jailed for four years in 2009 for the taxi rape but after being released raped another young woman on the same cycle track in October 2014.

Armed with a "rape kit" - including a knife and condoms - Moynihan ordered his 18-year-old victim to strip before forcing her into sex.

For that attack he was made subject to a lifelong restriction order, which means he may never be freed from prison.

The court was told that since his sentencing for the second rape in 2015, Moynihan has been jailed for 32 months for slashing serial killer Peter Tobin (left) in HMP Edinburgh.

He was also given a six-month sentence for hitting a fellow inmate with a metal bar in Barlinnie jail, Glasgow.

Judge Lord Woolman said Moynihan, who is currently a prisoner at HMP Glenochil in Clackmannanshire, had carried out a "chilling crime" by attacking the teenager in the cycle path in 2008.

Moynihan was handed nine years in prison and will be on the Sex Offenders' Register indefinitely.

COURT BANS MAD MICK FOR FLASHING HIS DICK!

By COLIN HURST news@sundaysport.co.uk

A PENSIONER nicknamed 'Mad Mick' was barred from his own trial after dropping his trousers and showing his genitals to court staff.

Michael Folan, 67, was facing magistrates for chucking chairs and tables at cars and passers-by outside a Wetherspoon in Huddersfield Town Centre.

He was almost hit by a bus as he dragged metal poles belonging to The Cherry Tree pub into the street to throw at vehicles.

Folan had been due to stand trial at Kirklees Magistrates' Court but was kicked out by court security for flashing at them.

His trial continued in his absence and he was found guilty, so now a warrant has been issued for his arrest.

A witness to the Wetherspoon incident, Fiona Louhunane, said: "He was very erratic and unpredictable as he moved around."

Fking

"There were a lot of pedestrians about and I was quite concerned that somebody was going to get badly hurt."

"He threw chairs at taxis and jumped into the road in front of traffic and a bus. I was worried for other people because the tables and poles are metal and heavy."

She told the court that he was known locally as Mad Mick and that she had previously come to his aid.

Another witness, Philip Harling, saw what happened as he waited for his wife in his car opposite the pub.

He said: "He was waving his arms around and being abusive. He got hold of the metal pole and threw it into the middle of the road."

"He was in the middle of the road and shouting very abusively, shouting fking this and fking that."

Mr Harling called police who arrested Folan for threatening behaviour, a charge which he denied.

RIPPER VICTIMS 'JUST HOMELESS'

JACK the Ripper's victims were not prostitutes but mainly homeless women, a new book claims.

Historian Hallie Rubenhold reckons four of the five women murdered by the serial killer were slain as they slept in the street.

She points to coroner notes from the time that say that all the women were stabbed to death while lying down, with minimal struggle.

Dr Rubenhold argues that sexist attitudes of policemen at the time and researchers since have led to inaccurate beliefs about the victims.

Her new book The Five claims to be the first full-length biography ever about the women, revealing the untold stories of their lives.

Only Mary Jane Kelly was a prostitute at the time, she claims, while there is no suggestion former sex worker Lizzy Stride was soliciting on the night she died.

Meanwhile, the other three victims – Mary Ann Nichols, Annie Chapman and Catherine Eddowes – had working-class jobs.

The Ripper killed his victims in Whitechapel, east London, between September and November 1888, but his identity has never been discovered.

Motty's sorry for big, black striker praise

VETERAN football commentator John Motson has offered a personal apology to Tom Elliott after he described the Millwall striker as "big, black and brave" on the radio.

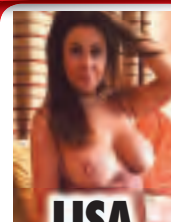

The broadcaster has reportedly been slammed by talkSPORT bosses for his comments during the station's coverage of Millwall's 1-0 win over AFC Wimbledon in the FA Cup fifth round on Saturday.

Motson (above) contacted Elliott on Monday to say sorry for his remarks, saying that it was an error of judgement, and apologising for any offence he may have caused.

Elliott acknowledged the 73-year-old legend's apology and made clear he wants to draw a line under the race furore.

A talkSPORT spokesman said: "We reviewed a live commentary by John Motson and decided to remove it from replay."

Valentine's Day was a w*nk in the park

A MAN was spotted having a romantic moment with himself on Valentine's Day in a park by a horrified dog walker.

Sergeant Brian Simpson, of Dumbarton police office, has appealed for any witnesses to come forward and help identify the tosser.

Shrek porn vid teacher struck off

A CHEMISTRY teacher who played a pornographic YouTube cartoon of Shrek having sex with an orphan on a classroom smart board has been struck off.

Claire Thompson played the video for the 16 and 17-year-old students she taught at Queen Anne High School in Dunfermline, Fife.

The sexually-graphic computer-animation, which showed the ogre rape and murder care home children, was played at the end of her class after a student asked her to show it.

At a General Teaching Council for Scotland disciplinary hearing, a senior teacher called the video 'inappropriate, sexual and paedophilic'.

Although the GTCS did not name the video, they confirmed it showed Shrek having sex with an orphan.

Thompson was found guilty by the GTCS of repeatedly allowing pupils to watch material of an 'inappropriate and sexual nature' during classes.

1 in 10 admit revenge porn

NEARLY one in 10 adults have taken nude photos or recorded footage of others without consent.

Researchers surveyed 4,200 people aged 16 to 49 and found more than six per cent had shared the images or footage and close to five per cent had made threats to do so.

Nearly nine per cent of respondents had captured images or footage without consent.

And one in five survey respondents had been victims, according to the Australian survey.

Image-based sexual abuse is sometimes referred to as "revenge porn".

The study found men were significantly more likely than women to admit the behaviour and offenders were more likely to share photos or videos of people they knew.

JACOB REES-MOGG 'BESIEGED' BY DOGGERS

Sex people flock to toff MP's rural Somerset patch

POSH MP Jacob Rees-Mogg may be busy at Westminster plotting against a possible watering down of Brexit... but he has a bigger problem closer to home.

For the Eton-educated toff's home county of Somerset is AWASH with DOGGERS!

The alarm was raised by the county's news website, Somerset Live, which reported about a kinky sexcapade on the seafront in the genteel resort of Weston-Super-Mare.

That led to investigators uncovering no fewer than EIGHTY-THREE dogging sites in the county, where Rees-Mogg enjoys a large majority in his well-heeled North East Somerset constituency.

And fellow Brexiteer Liam Fox's neighbouring North Somerset constituency is equally beset by sex people, Somerset Live reported.

The respected UK Dogging website listed dogging sites in Bathampton and Keynham, in the heart of Rees-Mogg's seat and close to his home in the small village of West Harptree.

Attack

Last year, condoms were left on the lawn outside the Rees-Mogg home in an attack that was blamed on leftist agitators.

The revelations about the levels of dogging in Somerset have led some to believe that extreme doggers may have been responsible instead.

FRASIER BACKS BREXIT

Right-on fans of show faint in horror

SNOWFLAKE fans of the TV show Frasier have reacted with despair after its star Kelsey Grammer revealed he's a fan of Donald Trump and backs Brexit.

Grammer and his co-star Danielle de Niese appeared on Radio 4's Today show to talk about their hit musical Man of La Mancha, which is being revived by English National Opera.

Though the discussion was supposed to centre on the show, Grammer veered off course when he talked about Brexit and his support of Trump.

He revealed he voted for the U.S. president in the election, adding: "I'm a conservative. I have been for a long time. I'm not a big government guy."

The actor caused a Twitter storm by revealing he was baffled about talk of another vote - dubbed a "People's Vote" by pro-EU fanatics.

Grammer said: "I do overhear the talk about Brexit and I think,

'Well, why are they voting again for it?'

"I think, well couldn't you vote once? It's sort of like you keep voting to get the result you want."

The presenter went on to ask him if he'd changed his mind about Trump after controversy around the president.

Grammer replied: "In terms of policy I don't have a lot of problems with what he's doing."

THE END OF THE LINE FOR EL CHAPO

MEXICAN drug lord Joaquín "El Chapo" Guzmán will die inside a mega-security "Supermax" prison after he was found guilty of masterminding a bloodthirsty international smuggling conspiracy.

His final destination will almost certainly be ADX Florence, a 490-bed jail in the middle of Colorado known as the Alcatraz of the Rockies.

It is America's most secure prison from which nobody has ever escaped, making it a fitting resting place for the man who TWICE sprung himself from Mexican jails.

to 'Supermax'

NOTORIOUS Joaquín "El Chapo" Guzmán was the world's most feared drugs cartel kingpin.

He famously escaped twice from Mexican prisons, but there was no escape route last week after he was found guilty of drug trafficking.

He was convicted of running the world's largest drug smuggling operation during a decades-long criminal career that included the murder of rivals, money laundering and weapons offences.

Among shocking evidence given at his trial were allegations that:

- El Chapo ordered his henchmen to drug girls as young as 13 so he could rape them at one of his hideouts in the early 2000s

- He paid former Mexican President Enrique Peña Nieto a $100million bribe to call off a nationwide manhunt for him
- He beat, shot dead and then burned the bodies of two of his associates after he learned they were working for a rival cartel

- He shot a man and threw him into a grave while he was still breathing, burying him alive

To the disappointment of many, US prosecutors had assured Mexican officials that they would not seek the death penalty when they sought his extradition.

Torture

The boss of the murderous Sinaloa cartel is said to have smuggled enough cocaine across the border for one line for every person in America.

With an estimated $1billion (£775million) fortune, it's thought he trafficked more than 150 tons of cocaine, heroin, methamphetamine and marijuana into the US.

While the 11-week trial was related only to drugs and firearms offences, 5ft 5in El Chapo – which means "Shorty" – is said to have been behind the kidnapping, torture and killing of hundreds of rivals.

The cartel chief rose from poverty in rural Mexico through the ranks of the country's underworld, cultivating an image of a Robin Hood-like figure who repeatedly fought the law.

He was jailed for 20 years in Mexico on trafficking and bribery charges – but cut his sentence short in 2001 by escaping in a laundry cart.

The following years were spent moving from one mountain hideout to another, backed up by his private army.

He was eventually recaptured and thrown in a maximum security prison in 2014, but then pulled off his best-known escape a year later.

After digging below the shower cubicle in his cell, El Chapo escaped through a mile-long tunnel just wide enough for the drug lord to ride away on a makeshift motorcycle which ran on rails.

The escape caught the attention of the world, with prison CCTV released by Mexican officials showing the moment El Chapo disappeared into his shower.

But he blew his cover through a series of slip-ups, including an attempt to make a film about his life and an odd meeting with Oscar-winning actor Sean Penn.

With a $5million reward out for information leading to his capture, the drug lord was arrested in January 2016 following a shootout in Sinaloa.

Feared

He had been holed up in a seaside apartment and was found curled up in bed with wife Emma, an AK-47 and his two-year-old twin daughters.

The trial was held amid a huge security operation with heavily armed marshals and police officers with bomb-sniffing dogs stood guard outside the building.

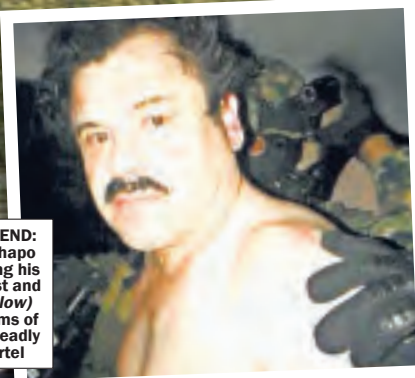

Court artists were warned to not sketch the faces of witnesses.

Even selecting a jury was a problem when the defendant happened to be one of the most feared men on the planet.

A LIFE-LONG PRISON SENTENCE...

THE END: El Chapo during his arrest and (below) victims of his deadly cartel

One man asked to be excused from serving because he was a Michael Jackson impersonator – and feared being identified – while another had a panic attack.

The trial featured testimony from more than 50 witnesses and offered the public a unique look at the inner workings of his cartel.

His smuggling exploits, violence and sheer size of his business made him the world's most ruthless drug baron since Colombia's Pablo Escobar.

More than a dozen former associates struck deals to rat on their former boss.

Jurors heard how the Sinaloa cartel gained power amid the shifting allegiances of the Mexican drug trade in the Nineties.

Eventually, it controlled almost the entire Pacific coast of Mexico.

Jurors heard how El Chapo made a name for himself in the Eighties as "El Rapido" – the speedy one – by building cross-border tunnels.

It allowed him to move cocaine from Mexico into the US faster than anyone else and would go on to help with his escape decades later.

Witnesses included top lieutenants, a communications engineer and even a one-time mistress, who said she once fled down a tunnel with the naked gangster.

El Chapo was said to have built the Sinaloa cartel into a sophisticated organisation that was reminiscent of a multinational corporation.

Horrific

He had fleets of planes and boats on standby, and also kept his own private zoo.

Despite Forbes marking him at number 701 on its 2009 rich list with his £775million fortune, in 2017 the US Justice Department sought penalties of more than £11billion in drug proceeds and illicit profits from El Chapo.

His trial also heard of the horrific violence he meted out to rivals.

One former bodyguard testified that he watched El Chapo, who owned a handgun with his diamond-encrusted initials on the handle, kill three rival cartel members.

He is also alleged to have shot one victim and ordered him to be buried alive.

Witness Jesus Zambada said the defendant once bragged that the greatest pleasure he ever experienced was having a long-time enemy slaughtered.

He was reported to have made the remark after the murder of rival gang leader Ramon Arellano Felix in 2002.

The trial also featured extensive testimony about corruption in Mexico, with claims that former president Enrique Peña Nieto took a £75million bribe.

A spokesman for Mr Nieto has denied the claim.

The same day El Chapo told the judge he would not testify in his own defence, he grinned towards the gallery at Alejandro Edda, the Mexican actor who plays him in the Netflix drama Narcos.

El Chapo's lawyers claimed he was set up as a fall guy by the real culprit, Ismael El Mayo Zambada, a powerful drug lord from Sinaloa who remains at large.

But after six days of deliberation, jurors found him guilty on all of the ten counts he was facing.

He will almost certainly be sent to ADX Florence, the one-and-only lock-up designed to cage the highest-risk prisoners in the federal penal system, located in Florence, Colorado.

Bombing

Widely known as Supermax, or Alcatraz of the Rockies, it was opened in 1994 and holds 400-plus inmates inside specially designed control units that function as prisons within prisons.

Among its most infamous residents are Ramzi Yousef, mastermind of the 1993 bombing of the World Trade Center in New York, convicted Boston Marathon bomber Dzhokhar Tsarnaev, airline shoe bomber Richard Reid and Unabomber Ted Kaczynski.

HEADLESS CORPSE OF TYCOON'S WIFE FOUND IN BIN BAG

KILLED: Susana Carrera

A DECAPITATED woman's body has been found inside a bin big with a note blaming her husband for "refusing to pay my ransom".

The remains of Susana Carrera were found in Coatzacoalcos on the eastern coast of the Gulf of Mexico. She had been kidnapped a week earlier outside a friend's house where she had gone to collect one of her children.

The couple owned a major aluminium company, which had an office in the coastal city.

Harrowing CCTV footage show her captors pulling up, grabbing her and throwing her into a car in seconds.

One week later, the woman's remains were found in a bag left on the street.

Prayers

The kidnappers left a note alongside the woman's body which said that her husband had been "messing around and wouldn't pay the ransom".

According to local media, she had been beheaded because the requested ransom of four million Mexican Peso (£161,000) had not been paid.

It is unclear how the ransom demand was made to her husband.

Hours later, the husband confirmed on Facebook that his wife

By COLIN HURST
news@sundaysport.co.uk

had been killed and thanked well-wishers for their kindness during the week she had been held captive.

The post read: "Thank you all for your prayers and wishes for my wife Susana Carrera to return home."

"Unfortunately she could not and passed away."

No arrests have been reported so far.

It is unclear why exactly the kidnappers decided to kill Mrs Carrera or what contact they had with her husband.

Reported kidnappings have risen in the city of Coatzacoalcos in recent times with 49 reported in 2018 along with 160 murders.

STUNNING Lindsey Strutt fantasises about SHAGGING in public and reckons outdoor sex is way more exciting than bedroom bonking.

Lindsey, 27, from Doncaster, south Yorkshire, has a kinky dream about a horny copper arresting her for romping in the great outdoors.

The 34GG lovely said: "There's something very liberating about taking your clothes off in public.

"At the weekends I sometimes drive up to the Yorkshire Dales for a stroll in the countryside.

"I never miss the opportunity to strip naked while I'm up there!

"I can't be the only one who likes getting their bits out in the open air, can I?

"I think sex outside is much more exciting. I don't care about being caught, as it's a bit of a fantasy for me.

"I'd love to get arrested while having sex. I could end up being escorted away by a copper saying 'you naughty girl'.

"And I'd have a great story to tell my mates!"

NOW FAKE TAN IS RACIST!

GETTING a fake tan is RACIST and almost as bad as clapping a black person in chains and forcing them to work on your sugar plantation.

That's the opinion of a loon who launched a tirade against fake tan after reading about the case of 18-year-old Olivia Shires – who left her product on too long and was left with a deep chestnut face.

The story enraged sanctimonious Twitter user "Ssika Ej", who ranted: "I'm pretty the racist thing is wearing fake tan a million times darker than your skin tone and stealing the colour of oppressed people, not seeing the issue with it and making black face jokes. What's ignorant is not understanding the cultural appropriation and underlying racism."

By GRACE HOOPER news@sundaysport.co.uk not understanding the cultural appropriation and underlying racism. "It's like because you can't enslave them in modern society you'll do ANYTHING to become them – you try to steal their identity."

"The issue does not lie with a little bit of fake tan to give you a natural colour like the sun kissed your skin. It's the fact that if you wanted to, you have the CHOICE to take these things off or not have them at all. Black people and other POCs (people of colour) have never been given the choice."

Women's MUD PACKS were recently blasted as racist because they look a bit like the "blackface" makeup used by the old Black and White Minstrels.

While Katy Perry and fashion brand Gucci have also been forced to apologise after upsetting various over-sensitive rabble-rousers.

KATE'S fling with Peter Davidson is not her first forage into the world of the toy boy.

Since splitting from ex-husband Les Wiseman, she has also been spotted in an "intimate" embrace with occasionally funny stand-up Jack Whitehall.

Posh Jack, 30, is 15 years younger than the beautiful brunette. But that still makes him five years older than her new fella!

CAROLINE FLACK & ANDREW BRADY

NOBODY can ever suggest that Caroline Flack is an age-chasing gold-digger.

We never see her on the arm of an ageing billionaire or doddery lottery winner.

No, Caroline, 39, seems to prefer the delights of the younger man, most famously with One Direction heart-throb Harry Styles.

But she's also been seen romancing the likes of Apprentice star Andrew Brady, 28, and personal trainer Bradley Simmonds, 24.

WHY KATE BECKINSALE LOVES YOUNG COCK, WE INVESTIGATE THE...

MARCH
COUGARS!CAMERON
DIAZ &
JUSTIN TIMBERLAKE

BAD Teacher babe Cameron Diaz is happily retired from showbiz and nestled in Hollywood's hills with husband of four years, Benji Madden.

But in the early 2000s the now 46-year-old stunned fans when she hooked up with one-time boyband star Justin Timberlake, now 38.

The pair were together for four years between 2003 and 2007, rarely seen without clasping one another's hands or snogging for onlooking cameras.

By JUSTIN DUNN

news@sundaysport.co.ukWHAT is it about older women and their insatiable, wanton lust for younger cock flesh?

It seems like every day that comes along, another Hollywood cougar is dumping her middle-aged beau and swapping him for a hunky toy boy.

The latest is Brit-born vampire movie star Kate Beckinsale, 45, who has reportedly hooked up with the spawny twat known as "comedian" Peter Davidson (no, we haven't heard of him either).

Davidson, 25, slightly better known as being an ex of the miniature but delightful pop star Ariana Grande, was seen holding Kate's hand when they left a Tinseltown bash last week.

Adventurous

It stunned fans of the Underworld star, who split from her film director husband Les Wiseman three years ago.

Many wondered why this demure but very fit 40-something left behind a stable life for the more adventurous world of shagging 20-somethings instead.

But it turns out Kate is not alone. Today, we take a look at a few other famous ladies who prefer their meat and two veg a little fresher...

DEMI MOORE
& ASHTON
KUTCHER

LOVELY Demi Moore had us all hooked when she signed up for the movie Indecent Proposal, which involved Robert Redford bedding her character for an agreed million dollar fee.

But the drama was nothing like her real life, which saw her divorce action movie hero Bruce Willis and hook up with Ashton Kutcher - 15 years younger - instead.

The pair even got married. But in 2012, after eight years together, they announced their divorce.

MEL SYKES & OLLY MURS

MANY of us breathed a huge sigh of relief when Ollie Murs failed to win The X Factor back in the black and white TV days of 2009.

His chirpy happy I'm-a-proper-geezer-I-am vibe got on many a nerve - and the hope was that would be the last we'd see of him.

Alas, no. Like a bad smell he lingers on and somehow managed to enjoy a brief fling with delicious Officially Fit Northern Bird Melanie Sykes, 48, before Christmas.

Not bad for a 34-year-old whose fan base appears to revolve around the over 70s.

NAOMI
CAMPBELL &
LIAM PAYNE

CAN'T be too bad being Liam Payne, can it?

He's in one of the world's most famous boybands, enjoyed some frantic knobbing with wor Chezza, and was spotted skulking out of supermodel Naomi Campbell's New York apartment just last week.

But the 48-year-old cougar has apparently warned young Liam, 25, not to get too clingy.

So maybe hold up on that condom order, young man!

CHERYL
COLE &
LIAM
PAYNE

TALKING of Chezza, there is not a man alive who wouldn't leap at the chance of ploughing one into ex-Girls Aloud stunna Cheryl, 35.

And spawny One Direction crooner Liam Payne, 25, got to do just that - and even squired a baby with everyone's favourite Geordie.

The Greatest Dancer host Chez is now single again - so if you're under 30 and have a cock like a grandfather clock's pendulum, maybe it's time to drop her a line...

Amanda's a nice bit of shirt!

AMANDA Holden shared a sexy snap of herself posing on a bed, which was "inadvertently" taken by her husband Chris and posted on Instagram. The 48-year-old telly presenter flashed a bit of leg as she scrolled through her phone as her hubby took the snap of her, with her blonde hair tousled and falling around her face. She captioned the image with the words: "My hubby inadvertently took this. I can only make a tenuous link to the previous insta pic mentioning The Sound of Music and say I'll endeavour to fashion some under garments out of the curtains in the morning." Amanda and Chris have been married since 2008 - she was previously married to former Family Fortunes star Les Dennis.

Animals turning into night owls

ANIMALS are getting so annoyed by humans that they're turning nocturnal, say boffins.

Our activity is causing the planet's mammals to flee daylight for the protection of night, says a new study from the University of California in Berkeley.

The study, published in the journal Science, represents the first effort to quantify the global effects of human activity on the daily patterns of wildlife.

Its results highlight the powerful and widespread process by which animals alter their behaviour alongside people, and human disturbance is creating a more nocturnal natural world.

Study lead Kate Gaynor said: "The subtler ways in which we affect animal behaviour are more difficult to detect and quantify."

FACING TRIAL: Johnson

AN ACUPUNCTURIST forcibly performed oral sex on a 16-year-old girl, then told her to fake an illness "so he could give her more orgasms", police say.

Matthew Johnson, 48, is accused of sexually assaulting the teen after several sessions of treating her for an unspecified injury at the One Yoga and Fitness centre in Clermont, Florida.

During one session on October 30 last year, the girl got undressed and lay down, before Johnson began telling her about how her eyes reminded him of his ex-girlfriend, it is alleged.

He is then said to have rubbed her legs, before moving his hand up to the girl's vagina, and asking: "Do you like it when I touch you there?" According to the police, the encounter left the youngster "in shock and terrified".

Johnson reportedly continued to fondle the girl for 15 minutes.

She also told how he then, "...Flipped me over and grabbed my legs and pulled me towards him. He put his mouth on me."

As she left, Johnson is said to have suggested another meeting, telling the girl that "she should inform her parents that she needed to see him for more appointments so he could give her orgasms and stated he looked forward to seeing her".

But she drove home and told her parents about the alleged attack, with police called out to the family's home soon afterwards.

One officer had her call Johnson while he listened in, with the acupuncturist reportedly telling the teen he had only performed "medical treatment" when asked about his behaviour.

He denied two fresh counts of battery on November 2 last year, and was suspended from his job at the end of last month, while he awaits trial.

A NAKED man spotted strolling round the centre of Hastings in East Sussex was nicked by cops.

A Sussex Police spokesman said: "Shortly before 4pm on Sunday, we received several calls from members of the public reporting a man was walking around naked in Hastings town centre."

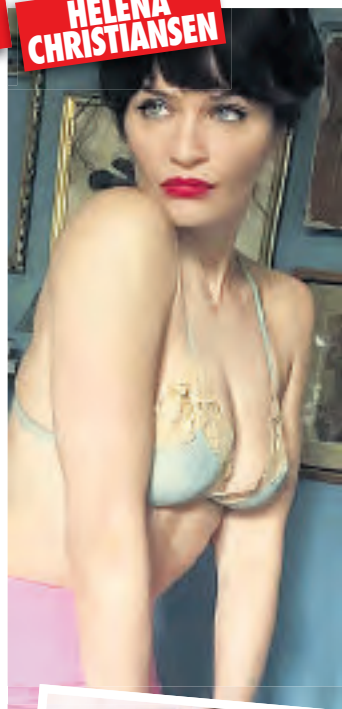

"Officers attended and the man was arrested for outraging public decency and possessing a knife."

"He was later released under investigation."

DILDO REVENGE KILLER NICKED

By BRAD CHADWICK news@sundaysport.co.uk

A KILLER who shot two men dead in a bizarre revenge killing over a DILDO and then went on the run has been caught by police.

Maurizio Archinito, 26, shot and killed Alban Medha, 51, and Ndue Bruka, 28, in Abbiategrosso near Milan, Italy, in 2012, after they broke into his family home and left a VIBRATOR on his parents' bed.

Archinito, who was convicted of their murders alongside his brother Mattia in July last year, fled to Spain while out on bail.

But he was caught by police selling drugs.

A spokesman for Spanish National Police said: "Officers have arrested in Sabadell, in the province of Barcelona, a man who was on the run from Italian authorities."

Offensive

"He was given a life sentence for murdering two Albanian men with his brother in a revenge killing."

"The victims had apparently committed a robbery in the fugitive's family home, where they carried out an offensive gesture towards the brothers' honour which led to the revenge act."

"The detainee and his brother shot them dead with a rifle and a pistol, killing them with a final shot from close range."

"The motive was the offensive gesture, which information from their Italian counterparts situating the fugitive in the province of Barcelona.

"Intensive work by investigators enabled them to discover he could be hiding out at an address in Sabadell using a falsified Italian ID document."

"It was subsequently discovered he was frequenting a cannabis club and making ends meet as a drug dealer."

Archinito now faces being flown back to his homeland after an extradition hearing at a court in Madrid.

The police force added in a statement: "Two months ago Spanish National Police received

Butt Plug Bandits strike

TWO "rugged-looking" women have been dubbed the Butt Plug Bandits after they made off with anal sex toys worth £300 from a sex shop.

The pair also swiped vibrators and a dress together worth another £300.

The theft has enraged workers at Peaches and Cream sex boutique in Petone on New Zealand's North Island.

One staff member said: "We'd rather give our attention to genuine customers. It just takes away from the customer experience when we have to be on guard."

Cops have taken CCTV of the incident.

Super Mario sells for £77K

AN UNOPENED Super Mario Bros game from the 1980s has been sold for £77,500.

The copy was certified by video game grading service Wata Games with a "near mint" grade of 9.4 and a "seal rating" of A++.

Wata Games's Kenneth Thrower said: "Beyond the artistic and historical significance of this game is its supreme state of preservation."

"Not only are all of NES sticker sealed games extremely rare, but by their nature of not being sealed in shrink wrap they usually exhibit significant wear after 30 years."

The buyers included auctioneer Jim Halperin of Dallas, coin dealer and video game collector Rich Lecce of Boca Raton, Florida, and video game store owner Zac Gleg of Lancaster, Pennsylvania.

SEX MISS BONKED TEEN IN SCHOOL THEATRE

QUICK FLING:
Leroy

A TEACHER accused of having sex with one of her teenage pupils in a school theatre just a month into the job is facing 22 years in jail.

Baby-faced Chelsie Leroy, 23, is charged with four felonies, including the second-degree statutory rape of the 16-year-old pupil.

She is accused of having sex with the teen at least twice during the 95 days she was employed as a drama teacher at Southwest High School in Barry County, Missouri.

The act is said to have taken place in the school's "little theatre" room.

The relationship started with texts just two weeks after school started in August and a week later they kissed, it is claimed.

Kissed

They kissed again the following week, which led to a sexual encounter, reports say.

Investigators heard how the pair had sex a second time in the same room a week later.

Leroy was employed as a substitute teacher and was paid $90 (£70) a day, according to court documents.

She faces charges of four felonies, including two counts of second-degree statutory rape and two counts of sexual contact with a student by a teacher.

If convicted, Leroy faces up to seven years in prison on each count of statutory rape and up to four years on each count of sexual contact with a student by a teacher.

DRUNK MUM HAD SEX WITH BOY, 14

A DRUNK mother-of-EIGHT in her 40s convinced a 14-year-old boy to have sex with her on her daughter's bed at a house party.

The mother repeatedly insisted the lad come upstairs but he kept refusing. She then kissed him and he eventually followed her into her daughter's bedroom.

"There she continued to kiss, pulled him on the bed and they undressed," a court was told.

The mother, who has children the same age as the victim, had protected sex with the boy.

The single mother, who has eight kids to four different fathers, pleaded guilty to unlawful carnal knowledge and the judge in Cairns, Australia, handed her a suspended 10-month jail sentence.

A police source said: "A mum of eight? She clearly likes the cock."

TEEN SNAPS TOILET PERV'S WILLY

A PERVERT pleased himself in a shopping centre's toilets – before sliding his penis into a teenage boy's cubicle.

Thomas Wilson cried in court as he was warned his lewd act could land him in prison.

His solicitor claimed Wilson mistakenly thought the 16-year-old, who fled in horror at his antics, had been "inviting" the behaviour.

South Tyneside Magistrates' Court heard the grim incident unfolded in the Blue Mall at the Metrocentre in Gateshead.

Shadow

"(The teenager) became aware of someone in the cubicle next to him," said prosecutor Lorna Rimell.

"He could see the shadow of the male and it was his impression that the defendant was masturbating due to the shadow on the floor."

The court heard Wilson then dropped to his knees and "pushed" his penis through the gap into the divide. The shocked boy took a photograph of the incident as evidence and fled, shouting for both his mum and the police.

In 2015, police cautioned Wilson for what the court heard was a similar matter, although he has no previous convictions. But in mitigation, Wilson's solicitor, Paul Hanratty, said: "The defendant didn't know the identity of the individual."

"He simply thought there was someone next door who was inviting that sort of behaviour."

"But he accepts he did expose himself behind a locked cubicle door.

Wilson was arrested a week later walking back to the Metrocentre when police recognised him.

Wilson, 24, of Stanley, County Durham, pleaded guilty to one count of exposure relating to the offence last September.

Problems

Wilson could be jailed after magistrates ordered an all options probation report ahead of his sentencing.

His solicitor said a prison term could pose serious problems for Wilson, who works full-time and lives with his partner.

"If he was to lose his liberty, he would lose his job," said Mr Hanratty.

'Open sex' man's naked beating as girlfriend waited

A NAKED man was beaten and robbed after preparing for sex with a mystery woman while his "understanding" girlfriend waited for him downstairs.

Christopher Hancock told cops he and his girlfriend have an open relationship, and they both went to a house so he could have sex with the other woman.

Hancock said he and the woman had gone to a bedroom and stripped naked when two men attacked, punching and choking him until he blacked out.

When he came round the men were gone along with his trousers and £8,000 he said he had in one of the pockets.

Hancock, 37, told police he "grabbed another pair of pants" before running out of the house.

Since the incident in Franklinville, North Carolina, Bryce Mason, 23, has been charged with assault and his girlfriend, Gracelynn Bradeberry (above), charged as an accessory.

A search for a third suspect is ongoing.

'Gorilla' cop in park perv hunt

A WOMAN became so frustrated by a local sex pest she literally went ape.

Many women say a man had exposed his genitals to them while riding through a beachside park.

But one decided to take matters into her own hands by hiring a gorilla suit, police costume and handcuffs and calling herself "Cop Kong".

She stuck up posters like "sex pest free zone" around the park and "Cop Kong is patrolling this area".

Police have since charged a 47-year-old man with committing indecent acts in public in Perth, Australia.

Dog beast snared by police sting

A DOG sex perv was snared by cops posing online as fellow bestialists.

Detectives got a tip-off that twisted Juan Pablo Tschen was some kind of warped dog pimp who hired out his pets to perverts for sordid canine lust.

According to police, Tschen was on an online forum and engaged in a conversation with the officer.

The officer set up a meeting with Tschen, who offered to provide his dog – a poodle called Sheeba – for sexual activities.

Tschen messaged the officer: "Sheeba's a real sweetie, you won't be disappointed".

Arrested

A search warrant was served at his home in Houston.

Tschen was arrested at his parents' home in the nearby Southgate neighbourhood of the Texas city.

As well as Sheeba, three other dogs – a four-year-old German Shepherd, a two-year-old Australian Shepherd mix and a two-year-old Jack Russell terrier – were removed by officers and sent to an animal sanctuary.

In a statement, Tschen's family said, "Juan Pablo is a loving brother and son. We believe the facts will show there has been a big mistake and that the allegations against him are completely false."

A shaken police officer said: "If I had my way, he'd be fed to hungry hounds. May the Devil himself take this monster's soul."

Man plops his clogs

A MAN died after a portable toilet cubicle caught fire while he was having a shit.

Units from the Baltimore City Fire Department were dispatched to where a man on fire was seen coming from the loo.

When they arrived, three "port-a-potties" were engulfed in flames.

The unnamed man was pronounced dead at the scene.

The cause of the fire is still unknown.

THE WORLD FAMOUS AGONY Page

Dear Kelly,

MY missus may be 42 but she's still got the body of a 20-year-old. She's always willing to try new things when we make love and she will even dress up for me if I ask her.

I came home from work a couple of weeks ago and she had a nice surprise for me.

I climbed the stairs I could hear my favourite rock track blasting out. And I got a real shock when I walked into the bedroom, because the wife was dressed in a sexy micro-dress and leather boots air-guitaring like a good 'un.

I got an immediate hard-on as she performed her routine. And when she bent over in front of me to reveal that she wasn't wearing any panties, my knob almost burst through my trousers.

She was obviously feeling as horny as I was, and immediately dived on top of me.

Then she went down on me, expertly working me to a frenzy with her tender tongue and luscious lips.

She soon brought me to a thundering climax, before laying back on the bed with just her boots on. She spread her well-muscled thighs wide, inviting me to return the favour.

Several licks and sucks later she was desperately begging me to enter her, so I gently eased in my seven-inch-er.

I gradually built up a steady rhythm until she was gasping for breath as she orgasmed in ecstasy.

Soon after that I reached my second climax, and we lay gently caressing each other for a while as the band rocked on.

That was two weeks ago and she has greeted me the same way every night since. But now she wants me to dress as the drummer in the band, but I'm now worried she might have more of a thing for him than me.

What do you think?

GR, Suffolk

Kelly says...

WHAT does it matter? There's only one real instrument being played - yours!

I'm using lodger's todger

Dear Kelly,

MY husband and I are strapped for cash and decided to raise money by taking in a lodger. We advertised in our local paper and eventually settled on a hunky young student.

Everything went well for the first few weeks, until one morning after my husband had left for work. The lodger's bedroom door was ajar and I could see him having a wank.

I was transfixed and must have let the door swing open a bit more because he looked up and saw me staring. But instead of being embarrassed, he held my gaze. And, as if in a dream, I went into the room, sat on the bed and grabbed his manhood.

I slowly bent over and took the tip of his member in my mouth. He gently pressed me down until I had taken half his length in my throat. As his balls began to tighten I eased up and slipped off my dressing gown and lay naked by him.

He pulled me on top of him and sucked my nipples as his hands explored my moist pussy.

He parted my love-lips and gently inserted two, then three fingers while rubbing my hard clit with his thumb.

After a few minutes of this finger-fking I was on the edge of an orgasm so I reached down, grabbed his huge knob and guided it in. There was still not a word said as I rode him until he emptied his juice into me.

I dressed and left him there and when he eventually came down we said nothing about it.

Now he waits deliberately until my husband has gone to work and lies in his room until I go to him.

I don't want to complicate things by forming any other kind of relationship. Do you think I am just using him?

SF, Manchester

Kelly says...

YES and he's using you! You're both having fun, just make sure you don't get caught

AGONY IS BROUGHT TO YOU IN ASSOCIATION

WELCOME to the World famous Sport Agony page! No other newspaper's agony aunts can offer the level of advice – or experience – than our own Agony Angels! This week KELLY MCGREGOR has been reading through your letters. And here's her advice for you...

My head for women's figures could cost me

Dear Kelly,

I'M a fully trained accountant with a great head for figures, even if I say so myself.

But I've lost count of the number of randy business women who have offered me sex when I've been sorting through their books.

At first I accepted all the offers – I'd happily give them a good seeing-to in their offices or during home visits.

Services

One busty blonde in her early 40s even asked for a discount on my services when she let me slip it up her arse.

But now I'm a little bit more choosy about whose books, and indeed whose boobs, I get my hands on.

Generally women who run small internet businesses from home are the most filthy in bed, I have found.

I was recommended recently to a potential new client by another woman I'd serviced last year.

Round at her house one evening, she poured us both a glass of wine, and within minutes she had her gob wrapped round my bellend while she fondled my plums through my suit trousers.

I confess, I didn't last long, and ended up splashing my fat all over her hair and face.

But the next day she emailed me a bill for an emergency hairdresser's appointment – saying she expected me to pay it, after glopping on her barnet!

I'm beginning to think sex with these clients could cost me a small fortune. Help!

RS, Northants

Kelly says...

JUST be careful you don't take on too much "work" – your cock might fall off!

Dear Kelly,

MY girlfriend and I have been with each other for a year now and had the perfect relationship until a month ago when I walked into our local bar and caught her getting off with some random girl.

They were snogging in a corner and I could see that under the table they had their hands in each other's knickers.

They were clearly getting off and giving each other sticky orgasms.

I pulled her outside and asked her what the hell was going on and she laughed and said it wasn't a big deal and she snogs girls all the time, clearly unaware I'd seen them go further.

I know it's not exactly cheating but that's how she's making me feel, in spite of the fact I got a fair old stiffy watching them at it.

What do you think?

John, Sheffield

Kelly says...

KEEP a close eye on her – with luck she'll do it again while you're watching.

Dear Kelly,

I'M a 26-year-old babe in urgent need of advice.

A couple of months ago I had a fling with a lad at work. He was only 19, but he kept flirting and one day I took him into the stockroom for to see what he was made of.

Things got a bit out of hand and I ended up shagging him, but the manager caught us and we both got a reprimand.

Within days, it got all around the works about what we had been up to and I was terrified that my husband would find out.

Luckily he didn't – but I have got myself a bit of a reputation and another bloke started flirting with me.

He was fit so I was happy and ended up arranging a threesome with him and the first bloke at his flat.

They took off my clothes and started to kiss me. I was so turned on I couldn't wait to have their cocks in me. They had me in loads of different positions.

Now they want to repeat the session.

What should I do?

TS, Essex

Kelly says...

ENJOY it. He won't tell.

Wife loves role as I fill her tight hole

Dear Kelly,

ME and the missus have been married for 10 years and have a very active sex life.

We are both love role-playing and our particular favourite is when I pretend to be a customs officer and strip-search her.

The wife wears a tight-fitting skirt with a white blouse and black lacy stockings and suspenders.

We pretend that she's just got off a plane from Amsterdam and I'm searching her for drugs.

There are no women officers available so I have to take her into a quiet room where I ask her to put her arms out against the wall and spread her legs slightly – and then I start to frisk her.

I slowly run my hands over her shoulders and her fantastic 34D boobs, I then concentrate on her legs and play with her stocking tops.

After the initial search I am still not convinced she hasn't got any drugs and I inform her I'm going to have to strip-search her.

I slowly undress her until she is naked. I kiss her neck and tell her that if she lets me do an internal examination with my cock I'll let her go.

She agrees and I handcuff her and unleash my throbbing knob into her mouth. After she has sucked me off, I then bend her over a chair and take her doggy-style while fingering her bum, and just as I am about to come I enter her arse.

It's brilliant as I squeeze my eight-incher into her tight hole.

She loves it, but do you think our behaviour is a bit weird?

DB, Oxfordshire

Kelly says...

NO. If it turns you both, carry on strip-searching.

'I crave animalistic thrills with a hunky workman'

I KNOW it sounds like something out of a 1970s porn film, but it's a fantasy of mine to get serviced by a hunky workman.

I imagine calling a plumber when my boiler goes – and when the man turns up, I see he's a hottie with bulging arm muscles and there's an instant connection and he can't take his eyes off me

We make some small talk and there's lots of flirting going on.

Then I take him to my bedroom where the boiler is and, overcome with lust, I seductively brush my bum past his groin as I open the door.

Then he goes all manly and grabs me and throws me on the bed

There's no beating around the bush, he pulls aside my bikini top and sucks on my boobs. It feels like heaven.

I return the favour and give him a juicy blowjob. Then he flips me over and pulls aside my bikini bottoms and

I suppose the thrill for me is being totally animalistic with a complete stranger.

BACK HOME: Sane

EASY FOR CITY AT SCHALKE

MANCHESTER City travel to Schalke this evening in the first leg of their last 16 Champions League tie. The Bundesliga outfit are unbeaten in their last nine home European games but they have, however, been knocked out at this stage of the Champions League on their last three appearances. I can't see past a City win.

Schalke have only won one of their last five games in all competitions and lie 14th (of 18) in the Bundesliga. City are 1/4 to take a lead back to the Etihad with BetVictor with the hosts 21/2 and the draw at 21/4. City should gain a comfortable win this evening.

The Bundesliga outfit only scored six times in the Group stages, although they did keep four clean sheets, but they will do well to keep this rampant City side at arm's length. This is where it all began for Leroy Sane who made 47 Bundesliga appearances for the club between 2014 and 2016 when he joined City.

Sane scored for Schalke in a 1-1 draw with Wolfsburg in 2015 – scorer of Wolfsburg's goal? Kevin de Bruyne.

Sane is 7/5 to score at anytime against his former club. City are 15/8 to win and both teams to score and I fancy a 3-1 away win which is 21/2.

Arsenal beat Bate 6-0 at home in the group stages of the competition last season and I feel the Gunners will comfortably overturn their one-goal deficit from the first leg back at the Emirates tomorrow.

Twist

Unai Emery's side must do without Alexandre Lacazette who was red-carded in Belarus, but they have enough quality although the lack of an away goal makes things more difficult than it should have been.

Arsenal to win to nil is 7/10 with BetVictor and I feel the Gunners will make it to the last 16 although there is always the nagging worry over a lack of an away goal.

You must go back to 2003 and eight ties for the last time Celtic won a knockout away European tie losing seven of those games and failing to score in all eight!

The Bhoys have given themselves a mountain to climb by losing the first leg 2-0 at Parkhead against Valencia who have won their last five European ties at the Mestalla by an aggregate score of 17-2. Celtic are 5/1 to win in Spain this evening (5.55 ko) but I don't think they will lose with Valencia having a two-goal lead and not knowing whether to stick or twist.

Celtic are 11/8 on the double chance (draw or win) with BetVictor and that might be the value.

Chelsea warm up for Sunday's League Cup Final against Malmö and they should hammer home the lead they took in Sweden. The Blues looked rudderless against Man United in the FA Cup, but they have won their last six home Europa League games scoring 17 times and I take them to maintain that sequence.

Maurizio Sarri is 2/5 to be the next PL manager to lose/leave his post. Zinedine Zidane is now 7/4 favourite to be the next manager of Chelsea – irrespective of the timescale – with Frank Lampard 5/2, Gianfranco Zola 6s and Jose Mourinho 12s at BetVictor.

Pogba: United must strike silver

SWEET FA WOULD PUT REDS BACK ON TRACK

PAUL Pogba believes it's vital for Manchester United to win the FA Cup.

The Red Devils had few problems in knocking out a poor Chelsea at Stamford Bridge on Monday night.

While the value of the FA Cup has gone down in recent years — United didn't even play in the 2000 competition — it has suddenly become very important at Old Trafford.

Pogba thinks winning a trophy would be the best way of drawing a line under the Jose Mourinho era.

They are still just about in the Champions League but have a mountain to climb against PSG and the Premier has gone — meaning it looks like the FA Cup or nothing for Ole Gunnar Solskjaer's men.

By PAUL THOMAS

Pogba said: "All the competitions are important. We want to win something."

"Last year we didn't win any trophies. I still remember that. This year we want to win something."

Liverpool are looming in the Premier League at the weekend and Pogba is ready for another big challenge.

He added: "The result was great against Chelsea, but we should do better. We should react even better."

"We made it harder for ourselves. We can control more, play more and hurt them more with the ball."

United were handed another tough FA Cup draw with a visit to in-form Wolves in the quarter-finals.

The Molineux men have not had a semi since 1998 and are keen to keep their excellent season going.

Challenge

Solskjaer knows it will be a real challenge against Nuno's men who have already dumped Liverpool out of the competition this season.

The Norwegian said: "An away tie again!"

"You know you've had Arsenal and Chelsea so you hope for a home game. But that's it. Wolves away. We have to do it the hard way."

"They're a very tough team to play against."

Juan Mata is another United man bracing himself for another difficult match in front of the TV cameras.

The Spanish playmaker was a key part of the Chelsea win and said: "Their manager is doing a very good job there."

"They play good football, so it's difficult to play against them, even more away."

"But if we want to win the FA Cup we need to try to beat everyone."

"We've done that with Arsenal and Chelsea, two top teams, and now we will go to Wolverhampton with the same ambition."

CESAR HAILS HUGE WEEK

CHELSEA defender Cesar Azpilicueta says the Blues have three games to save their season.

Boss Maurizio Sarri has been coming in for massive stick from the Stamford Bridge faithful after a poor run that saw them spanked 6-0 by Manchester City and knocked out of the FA Cup at home by United.

It's all systems go for Sunday's Carabao Cup final against Pep Guardiola's men. But "Sarri ball" which features a strict 4-3-3 formation and N'Golo Kante out of position seems here to stay.

After the Carabao final Chelsea then have crunch clashes in the Europa League and against Tottenham in the race for the top four.

Azpilicueta knows the next few days are vital for Sarri's men.

The Spaniard said: "Hopefully we can have a good nine days. It's the whole season."

"Now in three days we will be back at the Bridge against Malmo, to finish the job we started last Thursday, to get through to the next round."

"Then we have two massive games."

"We know that a trophy in the middle is everything, to bring the fans back to Wembley with the spirit to get the cup. Hopefully we can give a bit of happiness to them, to enjoy a bit of joy.

By JOHN ANTHONY

"Then we know Tottenham at home is something special."

It looks as though Sarri is safe for now but another thumping defeat against City at Wembley and a reverse at home to Spurs could change things very quickly.

It's telling that the home crowd were chanting Frank Lampard's name at the weekend — and the Blues legend is doing well at Derby County.

Rumours swept around that current No2 Gianfranco Zola would be taking over until the end of the season.

Learn

And the Blues have form for appointing interim managers during the season. They did it with Guus Hiddink and Rafa Benitez and it could happen again.

Sarri himself doesn't seem too bothered about the fans chanting for his dismissal.

He said: "I am worried about the result, not about the fans."

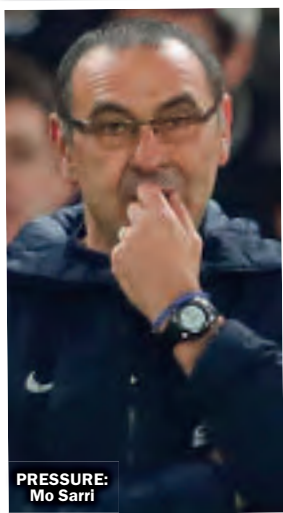

He is adamant that Sarri ball is the way forward but admits the players have a lot to learn.

The Italian added: "We need to move the ball faster, mentally and materially."

"We need more movements without the ball and need less actions individually."

"When you have spaces you can go for the individual action, but when the situation is like the second half against United you must move the ball faster and need more movement without the ball otherwise it is impossible to score."

Sarri knows he has to bounce back and win against Swedish minnows Malmo on Thursday night. Otherwise he is likely to be shown the door quickly.

WINNING POST WITH BEN MORGAN

THERE are some really interesting runners at Ludlow, none more than CHAMPAGNE WELL (NAP).

Fergal O'Brien's horse is a fast improving type who could have plenty left to give yet. A second to Downtown Getaway last time out reads well as Nicky Henderson thinks plenty of that horse and Champagne Well made him pull out all the stops to gain a narrow victory. There doesn't seem to be a Downtown Getaway in this line up today and at about 7/4 he has NAP written all over him.

At the time of writing, not many people had noticed that Derek O'Connor comes across from Ireland for the one ride at Ludlow as the odds predictors have KILFILUM CROSS priced up at 8/1. Once the punters latch on to the clue, he will be a lot shorter than that and I can see him starting favourite.

This big pot for amateur riders has attracted a strong looking field.

Company

I have plenty of respect for Midnight Target and Trigger Nichol but the selection was a decent novice hurdler for Kim Bailey last season and although he has disappointed twice for Chris Kelleth this term, I suspect Henry Oliver will be able to rejuvenate him sooner rather than later.

The final race at Ludlow can go the way of BALLYELLIS who comes here off the back of a fine run in novice company. After disappointing connections in his first few runs, Nigel Twiston-Davies dropped him right back in trip at Ludlow last time out and he stayed on nicely for fourth. That was a decent novice race and an opening mark of 120 could well be within his capabilities given this step up in trip should suit.

I am hoping KING ROBERT can go two better than last time out at Chelmsford this evening. Charlie Wallis' sprinter looked sure to go close last time out in a good race but his young amateur rider couldn't quite deliver the finish that I was expecting. The wily Joe Fanning is jocked up today and I will be disappointed if he is not up to winning this.

BREXIT REVS UP F1 FEARS

By ANDY MILLOM

MERCEDES fear a 'no deal' Brexit could spell the end of Formula One racing — at least for them.

The team may be owned by the German car giants but it's run from Northampton where more than 1,000 staff are based.

Mercedes are the No1 team in the sport with Lewis Hamilton doing the steering on his £40m a year contract.

But head of Formula One David Richards believes the team would be history if Britain leaves the EU without a deal next month. He has held talks with Mercedes boss Toto Wolff and said: "For some months now, Toto Wolff is the only person that has been very clear on the problems."

"Transport in and out of the country between the European rounds will be a major headache."

"If we get a no-deal Brexit, the early part of the season is going to be very challenging for all the teams, and I don't think some of them have fully considered that yet."

Eight out of Formula One's 10 teams are based in England and could have all sorts of problems moving their gear around Europe. The new season kicks off with the Australian GP next month.

Richards added: "Looking at the investment that Mercedes have in Brackley, and the infrastructure that is already in place there, could a no-deal Brexit precipitate them stopping in Formula One?"

"Could it also lead to satellite operations in Europe with some teams moving there? It is a big infrastructure to move, so it won't be straightforward. It's not going to make life for a Formula One team based in England any easier."

Brexit or not, Williams are having a nightmare start to the new season.

They have failed to get their new car ready and have missed the first key two days of pre-season practice in Barcelona.

There are just five days left for teams to get ready before heading to Melbourne.

ZZ DOES IT FOR BLUES

Zidane the man at Chelsea

By JOHN ANTHONY

ZINEDINE Zidane is all the rage to be the next Chelsea manager.

It looks like current boss Maurizio Sarri is living on borrowed time after a run of bad results.

As if being spanked 6-0 by Manchester City wasn't bad enough they were then played off the pitch in the FA Cup by neighbours United.

To make matters worse, it looks like the Chelsea fans have turned against the Italian and his "Sarri ball" that seems to be stifling the squad.

With speculation rising about an imminent change of manager, Zidane is the man everyone is talking about.

Reports in Spain suggest the former Real Madrid gaffer would jump at the chance of taking over at the Bridge.

The club are willing to put a £200m summer transfer budget on the table to entice the Frenchman to London.

And the bookies have made up their mind, making Zidane their 7/4 favourite to be the next manager.

Chelsea fans may like seeing that Frank Lampard is second favourite at 4-1 although it may come too soon for the Derby County gaffer.
